FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RTA Architects Welcomes Eight New Team Members

Colorado Springs, Colo. (October 3, 2019) – RTA Architects is pleased to announce that it has welcomed eight new staff members to our Architectural, Interior Design, and Administrative teams over the last few months. Our new Architectural team members are Architects Bill Hrinko, Jr. and Wilson Day and Emerging Professionals Austin Beninga, Landon Cook, and Dikshit Mahaveer Chand. Our Interior Design team welcomed Interior Designers Susan Brock and Taylor Barker, and newest Administrative team member is Administrative Assistant Amanda “Mandi” Hillenbrand.

Bill Hrinko, Jr., AIA, NCARB earned his Master of Architecture from Kent State University and spent the next 13 years honing his design skills before relocating to Colorado Springs to join RTA. Wilson Day, RA earned his Master of Architecture from Syracuse University and brings more than 12 years of experience. Austin Beninga joined RTA after earning his Bachelor of Science in Architecture from South Dakota State, and Landon Cook brought his strong skills in design, modeling, and drafting to RTA upon earning his Masters of Architecture from Kansas State University. Dikshit Mahaveer Chand relocated to the U.S. to complete his education after completing his Bachelor of Architecture degree at Hindustan University (Chennai, India), joining RTA shortly after graduating with his Master of Architecture from the University of Illinois.

Susan Brock, NCIDQ brings over 20 years interior design experience, including more than 10 years as a project manager, and has degrees in both business administration and interior design. Taylor Barker joined RTA shortly after graduating with her Bachelor’s in Interior Design from Southern Illinois University, and Mandi Hillenbrand brings nearly 10 years of experience to the Administrative Assistant role.

RTA warmly welcomes all of our new team members and looks forward to their contributions and growth in their careers.
